

Priority: Normal
To: cc@rssoftware.com
Cc: goloka@utc.campus.mci.net
From: goloka <goloka@utc.campus.mci.net>
Subject: To: Ambar Bandyopadhyay RS SOFTWARE
Date: Wed, 18 Sep 96 21:40:50 PDT

Wednesday, Sept. 18, 1996 9pm (21:00 edst) Chattanooga, Tennessee
U.S.A.

I just got back from one of my plant trips and I checked my mail at home (goloka) and there was your e-mail which showed the time sent as 00:49. My guess is that is the time it was sent from Calcutta, approximately 21 hours ago. Any way you look at it, the internet is fantastic form of communications.

I am going to try to put together a regular letter to you this weekend and it will be mailed to the RS Software address your provided.

Peggy will now be busy embroidering a "home sweet home" for Mr. and Mrs. Bhattacharyya. Great!

I am amazed about the Rahara RKM coincidence. That means that I can learn a great deal of what I am wanting to know directly from Saumyendra. So the Rahara RKM must be a combination of orphanage and regular RKM facility? or was Saumyendra an orphan?

I thought it quite an amazing coincidence when you got word to go to Kerney, NJ, last winter, and at the same time I had those business activities in Boston and New York, and all of the timing was perfect. And you also got to meet my natural mother. And then you went to Charlott which is just a "stones throw away" (as they say in Tennessee) from Chattanooga.

Just think - had Vishwa decided not to go and see the American!

As an engineer I should just accept the laws of probability and the randomness of the universe. But I find it difficult to do so.

By the way, Ambar, another of my favorite Indian Swami's is A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada. He was originally from Calcutta. When you and I visited that Indian store near lexington avenue to get the Agantuk tape we were just a mile from where this teacher had set up his small instruction studio when he came to the United States over twenty five years ago.

Arun is still in India (Bombay) getting proposals together with TATA Electric. I was able to provide TATA Trombay (Tata Power Company) technical assistance recently regarding some generator problems and system disturbance problems which led to local blackouts. By the way, I prefer the name Bombay to Mumbai. Mumbai sounds very African, like Zimbabwi. The central region Africans have a lot of "ba" sounds in their language. Do you think that the Indian government will change India to Bhabharat soon? It used to be called Hindustan - you know.

I have downloaded from AOL a collection of decoders, uue, etc. for the internet, and some viewers. If you need some specific software just let me know. I can send on disk or via the net. But disk might be more reliable because the internet breaks things into packets and sometimes you can get a jumbled mess. I also have the latest thunderbyte version visus software program if you want, and i can send to you. Just make your request known.

I am trying to obtain some translations of the poetic work of Tukaram. Are you familiar with this great Indian Saint? I can not find any English translations. What I have concerning him is imbedded within other Indian literature anthologies I have.

By the way, Ambar, what does " JAYANTA" mean???

I hope it is ok for you to be e-mailing back and forth on the company computer.

Is there anything I can do for you on this end? Foward a letter to Mirti? or others? I guess RS Software is working the e-mail system throughout the world.

By the way, I did get $25,000 study money to evaluate one of the projects. Unfortunately it is not the project requiring the intensive software programming. I have not heard about that project yet. If it comes through I will let you know.

Ok, good night and best wishes to you and Calcutta and to Rahara.

Nenad